Tech Tips with Carolyn Varlamos

This month's Tech Tips look at how to use mentions to get someone's attention and how to create a drop-down list in Excel, quickly and easily. The tips have been found by OhioMeansJobs tech guru Carolyn Varlamos with the help of the HowtoGeek.com and techrepublic.com websites.

Use @Mentions to Get Someone's Attention

By Microsoft Support

If you'd like to get someone's attention in an email message or a meeting invite, you can type the @ symbol, followed by their name, in the body of the email message or a meeting invite. If you do this, not only will their name be highlighted in the message body or invite details, but Outlook will automatically add them to the To line of the email or meeting invite, and they'll see the @ symbol next to the message in their Inbox.

How to Create a Drop-Down List in Excel—Quickly and Easily

By Maria Diaz, ZDNET.com

Microsoft Excel is more than a computer program your parents used at their desk jobs. When used effectively, it can be a rewarding tool in your arsenal, whether you're a business owner, a professional, need to manage your household finances or schedule, or simply need a budget. Drop-down lists are one way to simplify data input within Excel, which is helpful where time is money.
